The V.I. Department of Labor has announced a delay in the issuance of this week's unemployment insurance benefits due to technical difficulties.

DOL Commissioner Gary Molloy has informed the public that the department's technical team is working to resolve the issue, with an expected resolution by early next week.

"We apologize for this inconvenience and thank you for your patience and understanding," Mr. Molloy said. The department has remained tight-lipped about the details behind the technical difficulties, focusing instead on efforts to resolve the issue as quickly as possible.

For those seeking additional information or clarification, DOL has encouraged people to reach out to the Unemployment Insurance Division. On St. Croix, the division can be reached at (340) 773-1994, and on St. Thomas, the contact number is (340) 776-3700.
