

The Virgin Islands Consortium

Inclement Weather Prompts Early Dismissal of St. Croix Government Employees

St. Croix government takes precautionary steps amid weather warnings

Crime / Published On February 07, 2024 02:12 PM /

Staff Consortium February 07, 2024

Government House has issued an announcement regarding the early release of all non-essential government employees on the island of St. Croix. The decision, effective at 2 p.m., comes in response to inclement weather conditions and flooding.

The notice emphasizes that this measure is a precautionary step to ensure the safety of government personnel amidst the deteriorating weather situation.

Government House has assured that further updates on the situation will be provided as they become available.

This move is part of the standard emergency response protocol to safeguard employees and minimize potential risks during severe weather events. The public and government employees are advised to stay tuned for additional information and guidance.

© Viconsortium 2026