

Image not found or type unknown

Antilles School Seniors Achieve National Merit Scholarship Finalist Status

Antilles seniors step into the spotlight as finalists for prestigious scholarships

Education / Published On March 08, 2024 03:34 PM /

Staff Consortium March 08, 2024

Image not found or type unknown

l2r: Greg DeGraff and Julien Loewenstein were named 2024 National Merit Scholarship finalists. By. ANTILLES SCHOOL

The Antilles School has announced that two of its senior students, Greg DeGraff and Julien Loewenstein, have been named finalists in the 2024 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Having progressed from semifinalists in September, DeGraff and Loewenstein are now among the select group of about 15,000 students nationwide vying for scholarships worth approximately $28 million, with the winners set to be announced this spring.

Shannon Harris, Head of School at Antilles, lauded the achievement of the two students amidst a highly competitive field. "In a pool of exceptionally talented students, only 7,250 will be awarded National Merit Scholarships, highlighting the outstanding achievement of Greg and Julien on a national level," Harris stated. She further emphasized that this recognition continues a long-standing tradition of excellence at Antilles School, dating back to the Class of 1977.

Greg and Julien were commended for their dedication to both academic pursuits and active participation in various extracurricular activities, including student government, music, and athletics. "These two bring so much depth beyond their impressive accomplishments, and we are joyfully celebrating their respective success," added Harris.

Antilles School, a Toddler-Grade 12 independent institution in the US Virgin Islands, is dedicated to educational excellence and preparing students for success in college and beyond, fostering community, embracing diversity and creativity, and focusing on the holistic development of each student. For more information about Antilles School, please visit <https://www.antilles.vi/>.

© Viconsortium 2025