Indiana Fever center Aliyah Boston has, for the second consecutive year, been selected to play in the WNBA All-Star game this month.

On July 20, she and fellow Fever players Caitlin Clark and Kelsey Mitchell will join the rest of the All-Star team as they face the USA Basketball Women's National team.

Along with this being Ms. Boston's second-year as an All-Star, it is the second year in franchise history that three Fever players will be on the team, the first being in 2007.?

"God is amazing!" Ms. Boston posted on X, formerly known as Twitter, following the announcement. "So blessed to be a 2x all star!"

Ms. Boston has had a solid 2024 season thus far, with a game average of 13.1 points, 8.3 rebounds, 2.8 assists and 1.3 blocks. She has played an average of 30.2 minutes for the Fever, and has not missed a starting lineup thus far. Ms. Boston has been selected for the All-Star team on the heels of her being named WNBA Eastern Conference Player of the Week for June 10-16, the second such honor for the native Virgin Islander.?

Following the announcement, Ms. Boston thanked Fever fans for their support thus far.
