Christa-Ann Davis Molloy's artwork is inspired by her upbringing in the south of Trinidad and her Crucian influence. Her work amplifies the rich cultural heritage of the U.S. Virgin Islands and the broader Caribbean. She has authored a cultural coloring book that showcases USVI cultural experiences and historical information. Christa is also set to release "THEN & NOW in the USVI" and "VI Legends/VI Greats Books" in 2024. As an artist, she designed the St. Croix Agriculture and Food Fair posters for 2016, 2019, and 2023.

Her previous solo exhibits include "THEN 1800-1900s & NOW present" in July-August 2022 and a Fine Art Portrait Exhibit in July-August 2023 honoring USVI Legends/Greats. Christa's upcoming solo exhibit, "20 Things to Do or See in the US Virgin Islands," promises to be a celebration of Virgin Islands culture, featuring music and performances that highlight the vibrant local traditions.

An educator by profession for over thirty-three years, Christa's work reflects history, culture, celebration, and patriotism. Her versatility as an artist is evident in her use of various mediums such as oil, watercolor, acrylic, and pen. She also offers commissioned work, team art events, and customized products for small and large groups.
