The highly anticipated Sunset Soca Wine Festival is set to make its vibrant return to the island of St. Thomas on Tuesday, April 29, 2025, offering a rich blend of premium wines, gourmet cuisine, and electrifying Caribbean music in a setting designed to engage all the senses.

Taking place from 4:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. at The Grand Galleria—the former Grand Hotel located next to Emancipation Garden in downtown Charlotte Amalie—the festival promises to transform the heart of the capital into a lively hub of indulgence and cultural celebration.

More than just a wine tasting event, the Sunset Soca Wine Festival is described as an immersive fusion of flavor, rhythm, and culture. Guests can expect to enjoy a carefully curated collection of wines from both local and international vineyards, thoughtfully paired with gourmet culinary offerings from elite chefs.

“This isn’t just a wine tasting—it’s an elevated tasting experience that you won’t find anywhere else,” organizers emphasized, highlighting the event's unique pairing of fine wine with Caribbean culture.

In addition to food and wine, live entertainment will be a central feature of the festival. A lineup of the region’s top DJs will provide a non-stop soundtrack of soca, reggae, and Afro-Caribbean beats, ensuring the energy remains high throughout the night.

The event’s downtown location, just steps away from Carnival Village, allows festival goers to transition seamlessly from wine tasting to carnival festivities without skipping a beat.
