

logo not found or type unknown

Technical Issues Cause Application Delays at UVI, Enrollment Team Working Rapidly to Respond

Following technical difficulties causing delays, the University of the Virgin Islands reassures Fall 2025 applicants that its Enrollment Management Team is actively working to resolve issues quickly, urging students to regularly monitor email updates.

Community Center / Published On April 27, 2025 07:23 AM /

Staff Consortium April 27, 2025

Image not found or type unknown

The University of the Virgin Islands logo at the entrance of the St. Croix Campus.

The University of the Virgin Islands has announced that its Enrollment Management Team is actively working to process and respond to Fall 2025 student applications following recent technical difficulties that have resulted in delays.

Acknowledging the inconvenience faced by applicants, Dr. Nigel Edwards, UVI's Vice Provost for Enrollment Management and Student Services, expressed empathy and issued an apology. "We understand the anticipation and excitement that comes with applying to college and sincerely apologize for delays some applicants may have experienced," Edwards stated. He reassured prospective students, emphasizing that the university's team is committed to resolving the ongoing challenges promptly. "Please know that our dedicated team is actively addressing these challenges to ensure that all future Buccaneers receive the attention and support they deserve," he added.

To assist in streamlining the enrollment process, UVI said it has advised applicants to routinely monitor their email inboxes, including spam folders, for any crucial updates or additional documentation requests. Providing timely responses to these communications will significantly aid the university in moving forward swiftly with application reviews.

Prospective students wishing to track the status of their applications are encouraged to visit the official university website at www.uvi.edu early in the upcoming week.