Caribbean Airlines has announced a series of schedule enhancements set to begin August 15, 2025, aimed at improving connectivity for travelers across the Caribbean and beyond. Among the most notable additions is the introduction of nonstop service between Dominica and Puerto Rico, which will operate up to three times weekly.

The carrier is also expanding its nonstop flights between Dominica and Trinidad, strengthening regional access and opening the door to smoother onward connections to and from New York.

Customers can begin booking these flights immediately through the airline's official website, its Call Center, or via authorized travel partners.

Garvin Medera, CEO of Caribbean Airlines, noted the significance of these changes, stating: "These schedule enhancements are a direct response to market demand and feedback from our valued customers. At Caribbean Airlines, we are focused on delivering a consistent and reliable product and fulfilling our mandate to improve connectivity throughout the Caribbean."

The updated routes are part of a broader effort to make travel between Dominica, Puerto Rico, Trinidad, and New York more convenient, with the airline highlighting its role in supporting not only tourism and business but also cultural exchange across the region.

In addition to the routes beginning August 15, the airline revealed that more schedule updates are on the horizon, with additional flight options expected to roll out during the summer travel season.
