

The Virgin Islands Consortium

Pride And Joy: A Picture Collage Of Friday's Children's Parade In Frederiksted

Entertainment / Published On January 03, 2015 12:27 AM /

Ernice Gilbert January 03, 2015

Nothing displays the pride and joy of a nation more than its children. Just ask the onlookers in Frederiksted, St. Croix today, who came out to enjoy the Crucian Christmas Carnival Children's Parade, cheering on the little ones as they danced, jumped, waved and shook pompoms on the streets of the historic town, beginning at the Claude O. Markoe Elementary School, parading all the way into Frederiksted to end near the Romney's World Carnival Village entrance.

VI Consortium captured some of the day's moments in pictures and videos. Have a look below.

View the original embedded media (unavailable in the recovered archive)

View the original embedded media (unavailable in the recovered archive)

© Viconsortium 2026