

The Virgin Islands Consortium

Police Officers Recognized In St. John For Outstanding Service

VIC News / Published On January 08, 2016 11:35 PM /

Staff January 08, 2016

St. John VIPD Recognition Presentation

ST. JOHN -- Officers attached to the St. John-Leander Jorgen Command held its Quarterly Recognition Presentation on Thursday morning, providing acknowledgement to outstanding officers covering the period of October-December 2015, a press release VIPD Public Information Officer Kevin Jackson issued this afternoon has revealed.

Arlene Chalwell, St. John deputy chief of police, continues to build the moral of the officers under her command by continuously sharing sincere words of encouragement and presenting each of the officer's chosen for Thursday's ceremony with a plaque of appreciation, along with a hearty round of applause for their dedication, according to the release.

Officer Thompson Alexander received the Officer of the Month award for the month of October, for exemplifying great potential for leadership, as he's always reliable and reports for duty on time, the release further stated. It added that while on duty, Officer Alexander has been able to take charge and lead others by carrying out the duties of a supervisor when needed. He was also tasked with heading up the New Year's Eve initiative and recording the action plan.

Officer Josiah Angol received the Officer of the Month award for November of last year, as he continues to always lend a helping hand when needed. He reports for duty on time and has always shown initiative by being an officer who is dedicated and dependable, reads the release.

And officer Mitsy Prescod received the Officer of the Month Award for December, 2015 for always being ready to assist her fellow officers and exemplifying outstanding dependability by always being ready to take on a second shift when man power fails, the release states. Her impeccable service contributes to a positive work environment. And Officer Prescod went above and beyond her duty as she transformed the front desk operations by implementing a more direct and simplified functionality.

The presentation was held at the Legislative Building in Cruz Bay. The release concluded by stating that each selected officer felt appreciated for their service.