ST. CROIX -- As residents descended on the town of Frederiksted on Friday night by the hundreds in search of good music and food, it became evident that the Department of Tourism-sponsored Dine VI activity was one of the standout events of the weeks-long effort.

Dine VI, in short, was created to highlight the territory's culinary offerings, while supporting culinary programs at schools throughout the territory. Also known as Restaurant Week, the set of events commence on October 27 and runs through November 12. Dine VI also serves to bolster the USVI as a culinary tourism destination.

Friday night in Frederiksted gave residents and visitors alike a taste of food eaten on the go, being served from food trucks, where a variety of different tastes were to be had. And music from VI songbird Tia, as well as St. Thomas's Spectrum Band, added excitement to a gathering already having a good time, mingling with friends while satisfying their stomachs.

The event commenced at 5:30 p.m. and ran into the night, with Spectrum Band serving up enticing rhythms well past 10:00 p.m.

Upcoming Dine VI events include Feast Christiansted, a Taste of Two Islands, and the Food Learn “Farm to Table” Educational Series (held on each island), where students will learn how to embrace the principles of sustainable best practices and the importance of sourcing local cuisine.
