Update 2: Line department crews are being dispatched to address numerous isolated service interruptions across the two islands. An isolated service interruption is defined as an interruption of service to at least one customer. The pace of restoration is weather dependent. Continued high, gusting winds and rainfall activity will hamper and delay service restoration.

Areas reporting service interruptions on St. Thomas include: Bonne Esperance, Lindbergh Bay, Smith Bay, Hospital Ground, Norre Gade, Lilliendahl & Marienhoj, and St. Peter.

Service interruptions on St. John are reported at: Chocolate Hole, Hansen Bay / Haulover.

WAPA says it's committed to restoring service to all customers as quickly and as safely as possible. At the present time, all feeders are functional and there has been no interruption of power production at the Randolph Harley power plant.
