- East End /Tutu Mall continues handout for addresses in ZIP Code 00805

There is no service yet on St Croix.

Puerto Rico:

There will be no postal services in Puerto Rico on Tuesday.

However, on Tuesday, the Postal Service is asking postal employees to return to work to support the Postal Service's recovery effort, deeming it an important start on the road to service.

On Tuesday in the San Juan processing plant:

- All tour 2 employees report at the normal time on Tuesday.
- All tour 3 employees report at 10 am.
- All tour 1 employees by 6 am.
- That is all employees of the plant, including managers and supervisors.

Outside of the processing plant, all postmasters, supervisors and managers are asked to report to work at their regular duty location and post office. Their help is needed to assess conditions and to assist in locating postal employees. No other employees should report to work, but all are asked to check-in by phone or in person at one of six area offices open for check-in purposes. "The welfare of our employees is essential for our recovery to service," the Postal Service said.
