Sacha Alexander, who hosts The Consortium's live stream of the Crucian Christmas Festival Village, has been conducting a series of interviews over the past seven days. Among the notables, Governor Kenneth Mapp and Virgin Islands Next Generation Network President and CEO, Dr. Mark McGibbon.

Mr. McGibbon explained the role that viNGN plays in the territory, and how it seeks to better the lives of Virgin Islanders. The company is a main sponsor for The Consortium's live stream of the festival events, providing bar none internet of up to 1 gigabit -- bandwidth that has facilitated seamless streaming and has allowed the diaspora and people around the world to enjoy the territory's culture.
