FirstBank announced Thursday morning that all its USVI branches, with the exception of the St. John Marketplace branch, will reopen at 10:00 a.m. today.

Branches will observe regular closing times. The St. John Marketplace branch will remain closed today. For a list of business hours, visit www.1firstbank.com.

Social distancing measures are still being followed in branches and clients are reminded of the government mandated rule of wearing a facial covering while in commercial establishments such as a financial institution, the Bank said. During the COVID-19 pandemic, the Crown Bay Branch on St. Thomas and the King Street Branch on St. Croix remain closed until further notice.

FirstBank said customers should stay connected by following its social media page as well as local media houses.
