In addition to winning the Miss Incredible crown, Wozniak won best creative introduction, best seventies wear and best intellect which was an accumulation of scores for the introductory speech and question and answer segments, UVI said.

Miss Incredible was modeled from a successful Mr. Incredible, also hosted by the Office of Student Activities, according to Kevin Dixon, coordinator of Student Activities.

“After hosting three successful Mr. Incredible competitions, the students requested a Miss Incredible and we responded accordingly, to give the female students a similar platform to showcase their creative talents,” Dixon said.
