Last updated: Dec. 1, 2018 at 5:06 a.m. -- The V.I.P.D. has updated the number of men shot to 7 instead of 6. Death toll is the same at two, although one other victim was said to be fighting for his life and was airlifted for further care.

ORIGINAL STORY | ST. CROIX -- A shootout on Thursday night near the Lagoon Complex Housing Community, located in Frederiksted close to the vegetable market near the former Fritz Lawaetz Legislative Building, left two men dead and four others injured, V.I.P.D. Public Information Officer Glen Dratte has confirmed to The Consortium. The story is developing, and Mr. Dratte said the condition of at least three of the four other victims was unknown at time of writing.

The gunshots, first heard at about 9:10 p.m., rattled Frederiksted, with persons who heard them stating that the noise sounded like a war zone. Mr. Dratte said some individuals were gathered at the market when suspects approached and opened fire. A shootout then ensued, leaving two persons dead and four injured. Two victims were transported to the Juan F. Luis Hospital (J.F.L.) by private vehicle, and four others were transported via ambulance, Mr. Dratte said.

According to V.I.P.D. Commissioner Delroy Richards, the incident could be retaliatory in nature. "There is something that's pointing in that direction based on the information we have so far," he said. The commissioner described the incident as active and developing. He said V.I.P.D. officers were able to track the suspects to the Mahogany Road area in Frederiksted, where a vehicle previously reported stolen was discovered. "We are actively conducting a search in the area," the commissioner said.

J.F.L.'s emergency room was said to be a chaotic scene as victims of tonight's shooting were admitted for emergency care. In the lobby area, family members waited to learn of their loved ones condition, making for a tense and anxious scene, according to a person in the emergency room who requested anonymity.

The names of the deceased were being withheld pending next of kin notification.

Though the case is developing, the V.I.P.D. is following all leads. If you have information that may lead to the arrest of suspects, police are asking that you call 340-778-2211, or contact Crime Stoppers USVI with an anonymous tip here.
