ST. CROIX -- Students from the Alfredo Andrews and Pearl B. Larsen elementary schools and St. Mary's Catholic School took home winning titles at the Division of Virgin Islands Cultural Education debut Cultural Showcase and Competition held April 15 and 16 at the University of the Virgin Islands Great Hall on St. Croix, the Department of Education has announced. The competition saw entries in poetry, song, original poetry, storytelling, and skit.

Participating schools were the Pearl B. Larsen, Juanita Gardine, Lew Muckle, Alfredo Andrews, and Claude O. Markoe elementary schools and the St. Mary's Catholic School, the release said.

D.O.E. Acting Assistant Commissioner Maria Encarnacion and St. Croix District Acting Deputy Superintendent Victor Somme III shared opening remarks.

Skit 1st Place Winners -- Alfredo Andrews

"Good morning. I'm very excited to be here. As everyone knows culture is the way we live, it's how we speak, and it's what we eat. It's the music we listen too, it is everything about us. So to those teachers that are here today and support staff, I just want to thank you for working with these boys and girls to have them showcase our culture this morning," said Ms. Encarnacion said.

Keeping with the momentum, Mr. Somme stated, "The work that you are doing today is important. This is important work... It is our job as educators and students to teach our culture. So there is no dispute that what you're doing today is tremendously important."

The competition covered two days, D.O.E. said. On Monday, April 15, schools performing in the poetry, song and original poetry categories competed, and on Tuesday, April 16, storytelling and skit competitors made their presentations, followed by the awards ceremony.

Skit 2nd Place Winners -- Juanita Gardine

Mistress of Ceremony Susie Bough James read the rules and rubric immediately before each segment. Students and teams were judged based on memorization, effective speaking, emotional impact, insight and cultural relevance, originality, and time, to name a few. After each performance, the judges tallied their scores, according to the release.

A few notable highlights of the showcase were the Pearl B. Larsen team's entertaining recital of a combination of culturally relevant poems; "Clear the Road" by Alfredo Andrews; Quelbe song rendition "Daddy All I Want For My Birthday Is A Flute," by Claude O. Markoe; Juanita Gardine's Vienna Cake Mystery Skit and the Alfredo Andrews Original Skit "The Hard Headed Boys."

D.O.E said the performances were outstanding, making it a tight competition for the judges. In addition to the remarkable display of Virgin Islands culture, students revealed how talented they were in song, spoken word, and acting.

Division of Virgin Islands Cultural Education Director Valrica Bryson and organizer of the event gave closing remarks following the trophy presentation.

"I am very proud of the two days that we had. I hope next year after the schools see the great job you did we'll have some more schools partaking in this Cultural Communication Showcase," she said, adding, "I congratulate everyone; I want you to know that everyone is a winner. Just the fact that you got up on stage to take part and showcase Virgin Islands culture made you a winner."

Dodson James, Vivienne Pacquette, Jennifer Toussaint, Alscess Lewis-Brown and Joan Paulus were judges for the competition, according to the release.
