Senators spent all day Friday acting upon legislation during a Senate session at the Earl B. Ottley Legislature in St. Thomas, approving over a dozen measures while leaving eight more for next week. They also overrode four of Governor Bryan's vetoes and approved a number of board nominees.

The four vetoes senators overrode include Bill No. 33-0054, which seeks to bring relief to minority-owned businesses in the territory; Bill No. 33-0335, which seeks to restructure the Virgin Islands Cannabis Board; Bill No. 33-0217, an Act authorizing the Department of Property and Procurement in conjunction with other agencies to refurbish the building located at No. 1 Norre Gade on the island of St. Thomas and convert it into public restrooms to be used by the public, including tourists; and Bill No. 33-0102, which seeks to include graduates of the Adult Education Center among those eligible to receive scholarships as valedictorian and salutatorian, among other related changes.

Other measures approved:

Bill No. 33-0103 (Janelle Sarauw) provides for behavioral assessments of children from ages 3 through 18. It also authorizes postpartum screening before mothers of newborn babies are discharged from a health care facility, and sets minimum standards of health care for incarcerated women and men.

The bill also provides a new procedure for obtaining an initial birth certificate; prohibits the use of corporal punishment in public schools; provides GVI employees, both parents and legal guardians of children with two hours off of work per month, per child to attend their school. And lastly, it authorizes that no later than January 2020, each health care facility with birthing facilities must hire a discharge planner.

Bill No. 33-0254 (Dwayne DeGraff, Javan James, Marvin Blyden, Steven Payne) allows the V.I Water and Power Authority to reprogram monies appropriated from section 16 of Act No. 7233 to be used to expand the Bovoni Waterline project.

Senator Blyden told his colleagues that even before he ran for the Senate, he advocated for the waterline expansion in Bovoni. "Waterline expansion does many things. Number one it drives down the cost of development and building at your home. Two, it brings in revenues for WAPA, and three, it brings in revenues in terms of taxes for the government of the Virgin Islands," he said.

WAPA began working on the expansion project on February 3, 2020, with an initial completion date of July 6, 2020. However, as a result of Covid-19, the authority had to suspend the project. Giving testimony during an August hearing, WAPA CEO Lawrence Kupfer said the expansion project was only 10 percent complete. WAPA has since revised the completion timeline to January 31, 2021.

Bill No. 33-0111, (Novelle Francis) directs the Waste Management Authority to designate waste tire disposal sites throughout the territory; requires tire retailers to charge a tire disposal fee and obtain a permit for the collection, storage, transport, and disposal of waste tires; imposes fines for improper waste tire disposal, and creates the Waste Tire Management and Disposal Fund.

The measure also seeks to build on the career and technical (vocational) education program that allows high school students to gain exposure in their desired vocational career field, obtain national qualifications, and offer incentives for qualified local businesses territory-wide to participate.
