The Virgin Islands Department of Education said over the weekend it will resume its “No V.I. Child Goes Hungry” feeding initiative, Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. beginning October 1.

Breakfast and lunch may be picked up together and are available until supplies last, D.O.E. said. Meals will not be served on holidays or weekends.

Meals will be available to public and non-public school students whose schools are providing instruction virtually. Non-public schools operating with students attending in-person classes will continue meal collection/pick-up as normal from their public-school kitchen distribution site, the department said.

Parents or guardians picking up meals should note the following:

- Meals are limited to five per person (five breakfast and five lunches)
- A face mask or facial covering must be worn when collecting meals
- Identification is not required
