Janeisha John, the St. Croix-born Virgin Islands model, television host and producer is the featured beauty on Ellements Magazine's Holiday Issue.

Los Angeles, CA — Ellements Magazine recently unveiled its highly anticipated Holiday Issue cover, with Crucian beauty Janeisha John being the featured model, gracing the magazine with her unique and captivating aura.

Based in New York City, the national publication is well-respected amongst fashion's elite globally, according to a release issued Saturday. Ellements is known for its hi-fashion caliber editorials, and the cover accompanies an eight-page fashion spread featuring Ms. John.

“It was an amazing experience creatively collaborating with these extremely talented individuals.” Ms. John said. “Thank you to Kane Oguru and the entire Ellements Magazine team for this opportunity to shine and create black cover girl magic! This was truly an island girl’s dream come true.”

The Los Angeles, CA-based talent continues to showcase her V.I. pride proudly in all her opportunities and professional accomplishments. The issue highlights her work and notoriety as a model, television host, and producer, according to the release. The spectacular cover and editorial images were executed by esteemed Atlanta based fashion photographer Aim Crawford. Mr. Crawford masterminded the shoot's concept and creative direction to capture these exquisite images for Ellements. His talent and vision contribute to magazine's notoriety as one of the fastest growing fashion publications in the U.S., the release stated. Mr. Crawford also enlisted designer Nicci Houston to curate pieces worn by Ms. John.

In August Ms. John was announced as host of the hit show "Joseline's Cabaret: The Reunion" which streams on the Zeus Network. Legendary comedian Luenell Campbell hosted alongside Ms. John, who also serves as producer on the reality competition show set in Atlanta, Georgia.

A former Miss Universe U.S. Virgin Islands and Miss America U.S.V.I., Ms. John represented the U.S. Virgin Islands at the 2008 Miss America pageant and the 2010 Miss Universe competition. She has produced and worked as a television host for various networks including TEMPO Networks, and Virgin Islands' local PBS and CBS stations before relocating to Los Angeles, California to pursue her career in television, film, and modeling.

Zeus is a leading subscription-based video on-demand streaming service created for millennials by millennials, according to a previously issued release. It was founded by mogul, television producer Lemuel Plummer.

Mr. Plummer currently serves as founder/CEO and has paved the way for some of reality television's biggest stars by providing executive producer credits and creative freedom.

Virgin Islanders can download the Zeus Network app on every device from the App Store or go to www.thezeusnetwork.com to subscribe and tune in.
