As 2022 draws to an end, the V.I. Consortium is putting several lists of the year's biggest stories together.

The stories will be published in no particular order, as the purpose of the series is to simply highlight the biggest moments of the year in the USVI, not particularly by order of impact.

While VIPA Executive Director Carlton Dowe told the Consortium that the authority will be leasing to whichever company/companies are successful, he emphasized that the Port Authority will retain full ownership of both airports.

VIPD Patrol Officers Now Wearing Body Cameras

The V.I. Police Department in July announced the launch of the first phase of its Body-Worn Camera Program that will equip the VIPD Patrol Officers with the use of BWCs for law enforcement operations. The deployment will allow officers to record enforcement and investigative encounters between the police and the public, the department said, which added that the cameras will provide an objective record of encounters, simplify review of events by supervisors, and improve accountability.

Sargassum Inundates St. Croix Leads to State of Emergency Declaration

Government House announced in July that Governor Albert Bryan issued an executive order declaring a state of emergency in the territory to mitigate the impact from the unusually high amounts of sargassum seaweed that was piling up on USVI shores and having a negative impact on water-production capabilities on St. Croix.

Bryan Pays Out \$288.8 Million in Tax Refunds

The major milestone of coming current on tax refunds by paying out $288.7 million was announced by Governor Albert Bryan during a press event on Sept. 19. "We have paid, believe it not, tax refunds as far back as 2001 — that's 22 years ago," Mr. Bryan said at the time. "And we continue to pay tax refunds from before as they may have been in audit or they may have been filed late. But regardless, we have been paying them out as quickly as they have been filed."

USVI President Dr. David Hall told lawmakers during a hearing that with just one week before school reopened, only 1,320 students had registered at the institution. It is a significant decline from the 2,400 students who attended UVI prior to the 2017 hurricane season.
